

Steve DT

JADE: March 2016

Long-standing Guild member Steve DT is a former music photographer, having worked during the 1980s for Melody Maker newspaper in the UK (amongst others). Though originally hailing from deepest Yorkshire, Steve is now based on the south coast near Brighton.

Steve is a very experienced and accomplished photographer, whose interest in erotic photography began with his exposure to the works of Man Ray, Brassai, Blumenfeld and Helmut Newton, to name but a few. His own photography moves seamlessly through portraiture, glamour and fetish, sometimes adding his own social commentary to the content he shoots.

He prefers to shoot themed projects, as he believes it adds to the overall feel of the photos. By providing enough of a 'story / feeling / situation' to the image, it allows the viewer's imagination to run with it. In practice, he finds this more interesting than just turning up at a photo shoot and shooting off the cuff.
